

WELCOME TO CENTRAL TODAY!

We are so glad you've chosen to join us during our "Imperfect Family" series. We hope this 70 minute service inspires dramatic spiritual growth in your life!

There is no perfect family because all families are made up of imperfect people. Yes, YOU are imperfect...just like ME! But God has a strategic purpose for family even with all of our imperfections. Family is a wonderful thing.

The sacredness of family often gets ruptured by sinful actions. When that's the case relationships get fractured and splintered. When we find ourselves in broken relationships forgiveness is the beginning of restoration. Maybe you've been hurt by a family relationship? How do you walk through that?

Tom Henderson, leader of Restoration Generation, will be sharing today about how to deal with forgiveness when sin invades the sacredness of family. I know you'll enjoy today's message.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR JOSHUA DUNCAN

Please join us for a farewell and "thank you" reception for Joshua Duncan, our Associate Director of Student Ministries, at one of two opportunities this weekend: Saturday after the 5:00 pm service, and after the 9:00 am service on Sunday morning, in the Oakwood Chapel. Joshua's last day of serving at Central is this Wednesday, April 29. He will be greatly missed!

Joshua has served for almost 4 years in Central's student ministry. He's decided to focus his time and energy on finishing his Masters of Divinity/Marriage and Family Counseling degree. To complete his degree, he will pursue counseling internships which require more of his time.

Here is a quote from his resignation letter, "...this is a bittersweet moment, as I feel my time at Central has come to a close. As I have been praying, I sense God is calling me to focus my life in different areas."
